This better not make me miss one word of my Loopy Christmas carols...

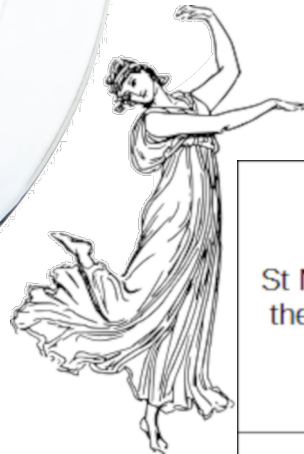

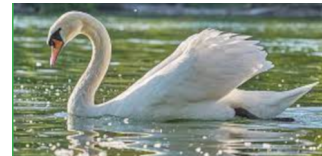

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil celebrates Christmas with an enormous floating Christmas tree.	'Jingle Bells' was written to celebrate Christmas Eve.	In Caracas, Venezuela, there is a tradition of roller skating to church at Christmas.
Traditional plum pudding recipes don't usually include plums.	In Norway, women hide their brooms and mops on Christmas Eve so they aren't stolen by witches.	The town of Gävle, Sweden marks Christmas by constructing a huge straw yule goat (which is attacked by arsonists).
King William I of England was crowned on Christmas Day.	Dancer is the red-nosed reindeer.	In Iceland, the mythical 'Yule Cat' Jólakötturinn is an angry monster who attacks the badly dressed.

I'm just gonna listen to a number of my favourite songs and count on it going away.

A mystery?
Elementary,
my dear
Watson.

"Marley was dead" are the first words of A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens.	Oaxaca, Mexico is famous for its nativity scenes carved from wood.	It took Charles Dickens six months to write A Christmas Carol.
On Christmas Eve in Denmark, people leave out porridge so Nisse, a mischievous elf, won't steal presents.	Instead of one Father Christmas, there are five Yule Lads who visit Icelandic homes at Christmastime.	On Christmas Eve, Single Czech ladies throw spoons to find out if they'll marry in the next year.
Robert Louis Stevenson deeded his birth date to a friend's daughter who didn't like her 25 Dec birthday.	In Germany, Poland and Ukraine, finding a spider on Christmas is considered lucky.	In the 1964 film Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer , protagonist elf Hermey dreams of being a dentist.

I truly object to being falsely accused!

Rachel, I umpire the neighbor on the curb or online: his odium is a labor one jumbo Ronnie's consul furtively will harbor once far gone.

EVIDENCE

Put (7) in the sugar cookies!

Left bits of (11) on the bathroom counter

Made a carol playlist that was (9) awful.

Put silly (9) on all outgoing letters

Dressed up as a (9) instead of an elf

Mixed (5) into the salad

...Which means the impostelf is 352715!!!
